| 2 | Mostly, they want to be listened to and given information correctly the first time. Often, they need a little help following through. Our state focuses too much on the crisis response than the prevention options. Our elders need to feel hopeful and needed and valued in the community. | 9/22/2015 9:52 AM |
| 3 | We are raising our grandchild and see so many in our community doing the same. We have spent our savings and put little aside for retirement because we need the funds for childcare so we can work (I work 40 hours and my husband works 60-70 hours a week), braces, school costs, clothes, food, and so on. | 9/21/2015 5:21 PM |
